

GIRLS SACRIFICE TO AID STARVING

Deny Themselves Movies and Candy to Save Money for European Relief.

Members of the Janesville High School Girl Reserves club, by denying themselves candy, gum, ice-cream and movies during Lent, and saving the money they would thus spend, are doing a real service, the results of which will be seen Easter Sunday, when all the money thus saved will be collected and sent to Europe to buy food for the starving. This is but one of the many activities of the club. In the April, 1921, when $2 girls were initiated. It is the object of this club, as well as that of clubs all over the world to "lend" and give the best. The high school club has adopted as its purpose: 1. To encourage school spirit among classmates. 2. To have and promote, as a club, high standards of scholarship. 3. To do active service and be known as a club upon which the school and community can depend. 4. To promote wholesome recreation and social diversions.

Rock County Plat Book Goes to All Renewal Subscribers

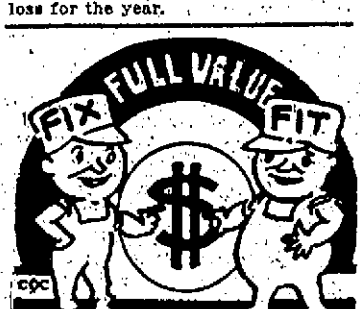

The new Rock County Plat book or County Atlas published by W. W. Hixson company of Rockford has been completed and the Gazette has taken over the distribution of this valuable piece of county geography. In the fore part of the book is a complete map of Rock County showing the sections, roads, rivers, streams, towns, cities, villages, and fact, general information which is of interest to the public. These books are brought down to date with the twenty townships giving the size and location of farms with the owners' names and all the details as to location of school houses, churches, cemeteries, county buildings, cities, towns, villages, railroads, highways and in fact all of the detailed information which makes a map useful. These township atlases issued and sold in small quantities would bring fifteen dollars each and in cities where but a few have been issued, that price has been secured to cover the cost. Purchasing a large quantity, the Gazette is able to offer them to subscribers and those who desire to make the purchase outright on the following terms:

On the renewal of a year's subscription, no matter where you are paid to, at this time, the Gazette will include a copy of the book. New subscribers on the same basis. The book can be purchased over the counter or at Gazette agencies at the price of one dollar where the coupon, clipped from the paper is presented with the payment price. For up to date information, this township atlas should be in the hands of every person interested in Rock County, at once. The price includes mailing charge.

ANOTHER PACKER REPORTS DEFICIT

Chicago.—The annual statement of Wilson and company, packers, revealing an operating deficit of $4,452,650 during 1921, was made public Monday. Including payment of preferred dividends the deficit for the year was placed at $9,296,369, as compared with profits of $1,500,000 in 1920 and $5,000,000 in 1919. The statement said that while sales totaled fewer dollars in 1921 than in previous years, the tonnage was nearly the same. Wilson and company was the last of the big five packers to issue a statement and each company reported a loss for the year.

ALL OUR PATRONS BELIEVE THEY FULL-VALUE RECEIVE

"Full value" is the magic word that has brought a lot of good customers to this shop. They were told by their fellow townsmen that our services were dependable, that we carried a standard line of plumbing merchandise and that our prices were satisfactory. GEORGE & CLEMONS PLUMBERS 401 W. # HARDING CONGRESS IN DIFFERENCES OVER LEGISLATION of the sales tax for many reasons. He believes it will easily collect the money for the bonus and he thinks it may get a trial sufficient to prove to the country that a sales tax would be a good substitute for most all forms of taxation. The differences between the president and Mr. Fordney are by no means of recent origin. They began with the start of the administration itself. Mr. Fordney insisted on pushing the tariff issue to the fore at a time when the executive thought it was wiser to defer action. Similarly, embarrassment arose with the tax bill carefully framed at the executive end of the government by Secretary Mellon and his experts. The treasury made a tax bill that wouldn't mean a deficit. Mr. Fordney, much against the wish of the president, rewrote the bill and provided a deficit by saying that the deficit was a negligible one.

Differences on Revenue

Nevertheless, President Harding, in his address to congress publicly expressed his disapproval of the revenue law and indicated that he wanted changes at the earliest possible moment. Again and again leaders have come from congress to talk with the president in the hope that he will help them pull political chestnuts out of the fire or that he will take a stand which will mean increased instead of decreased taxation. All the states insist on the necessity to the effect that the government cannot stand a bonus at this time unless the taxpayers want additional taxes have upon them through a sales tax have been swept aside as merely a temporary expedient. The expectation has been that congress could go ahead and pass what ever bill it wished and the president would be bound to approve it. When Mr. Harding announced that he wasn't in favor of the present house bill, men on Capitol Hill said, "Oh, he will come around to it, all right—let's go ahead and pass it." This impression of a wavering executive was carried to the president who was unable to conceal his disappointment that such an idea about him should prevail in congress. Stirred by these reports, Mr. Harding decided to stand pat and let congress take full responsibility for what happens next, politically or otherwise.

Refuses to Lobby

The same situation exists with reference to the treaties. The president feels and he and Secretary Hughes did the best they could with an international complication of an acute character. The price of ending the Anglo-Japanese alliance was a four power treaty. The president and his advisers think it was good diplomacy to get rid of the Anglo-Japanese alliance and substitute what appears to them a harmless four power pact. The president has been told the treaties are in danger of defeat—he refuses to lobby for the treaties or to try to coerce congress. If congress accepted reservations that do not nullify the pact itself, Mr. Harding will accept them. He doesn't want to be around while the bickering is going on if he can help it. The next two weeks will see the fate of the treaties decided and the bonus measure transferred to the senate. Mr. Harding will tackle both when he comes back with a feeling that he has a free hand and that his views have not been distorted in the cloakroom arguments of republican leaders who have been variously interpreting the intentions of the chief executive.

School Exhibits Will Feature at State Fair

Madison, Wis.—Demonstrations in practical housekeeping, exhibits by high schools and colleges, and scientific displays will take the place of the displays of the products of housewives, graduate school exhibits and certain dairy products according to O. E. Remey, in speaking of the Wisconsin state fair of 1922. The president of the fair association said that this year's fair will be the biggest and best Wisconsin has ever witnessed. The state and county fairs of Wisconsin are models for the "United States," Mr. Remey said. "This is due to splendid co-operation the state has from the counties. Other states are studying and imitating our system. We are using college exhibitions because we wish to show that Wisconsin has schools second to none, and that a student is foolish to leave his state to study elsewhere."

The Fast Mail

On Coronation Gulf, far up in Canada's Arctic waste of white, the mail is sometimes three years in arriving. A record for quick delivery was made when a letter once came from England in thirteen months!

Speed, service, values—all are relative. The Coronation system of service very likely is as good as is possible under the conditions.

There are varying degrees of store service, too; all perhaps, backed by good intentions. But it takes the will to serve, plus intensive buying, selling and operating facilities for service, to make these good intentions effective. Shoppers are quick to discover the relative merits of storekeeping methods. We don't believe any of them place this store near the Coronation Gulf zone of retailing.

DELANEY AND HIS DESTROYERS

There is an element of sadness in the conviction of Frank Delaney, late Federal prohibition agent for Wisconsin, for accepting bribes and otherwise besmirching a career that gave such promise only two years ago. In the assembly, in the session of 1919, he was liked and recognized as a young man of the future. The big money in the whiskey business of the ring having its center at Milwaukee, seems to have been too much for him. The jury has said as much. Others have fallen in the same way under the black and criminal curse of the whiskey ring where over that slimy trail has led across official pathways. There are men who have failed to fall for the temptation but it has been great. What shall we say then of the organized crooks who wearing good clothes, a snug position in the social world, a place in the business sun, "gentlemen all," but who have instigated the downfall of Delaney and others—killed them forever, crushed a body and damned a soul for a few nasty dollars? These be the same forces that now are so anxious that the wedge be thrust in to the social structure and the saloon be brought back with the lying demand for light wines and beer. They are as clever in this in keeping in the background as they were for a year or so in Delaney's case, but ultimately the log will be rolled over and the worms and bugs beneath it will be disclosed.

It's a pity that the Irish Limerick has to be written in blood.

RUSSIAN RELIEF FROM ROCK COUNTY

Decision by the committee having in charge the raising of funds for Russian famine relief in Rock county to send direct to the Friends (Quakers) society in Philadelphia, has made it possible to go out and ask for contributions with a certainty that the relief will reach its destination in the famine area of the Volga and go to the hungry people there.
 Without that assurance there could certainly have been no successful effort here for relief funds. The arrangement originally was to send the funds and contributions of food to the war-house of the American Committee for Russian Famine Relief at Chicago with the kindly assurance of Mr. Townley's old friend and follower, Walter Liggett, the secretary, that it would be forwarded to the Quakers. That was not satisfactory here and the committee, determined that there should be no question whatever about the ultimate disposition of funds or other forms of relief.

Enough ought to be contributed from Rock county at least to purchase a can of flour for the Russian sufferers. That will be in the neighborhood of 1,800. Contributions may be made to any member of the committee or to Harry Haggart, president of the First National Bank Janesville, who is the treasurer of the local committee.

Under the guise of relief the country is being filled with a propaganda aimed to show what a splendid government is Lenin's and how maligned he and his cut-throats have been. But that has nothing now to do with the local effort in behalf of the hungry and dying, for none of the funds will get to these Soviet leaders or go through the itching hands of the merciless de-structors of the Russian peoples.

New York's champion bootlegger has been fined $65,000 and given ten years in prison. That will help reduce the amount of wood alcohol in circulation.

Charging that the republicans have not passed some particular measures in the one year of the administration, the democrats evidently overlook the recorded fact that every obstructive action possible has been placed in the way by democratic party leaders. But there has been accomplished a payment of the public debt of $3,700, 000,000 and a reduction of expenditures of $750, 000,000. The naval holiday alone will in ten years save to the nation $5,000,000,000 according to the New York World, a democratic newspaper. And at the same time there is no menace of war on any hand against the United States, which is worth some added billions.

Mr. Bryan is for the 4-power treaty. He says it is a treaty for peace. We withdraw the invitation to come to Wisconsin and talk of imperialism. Evidently he does not look at it with the eyes of the Boss of the state.

Judge Henry Graess of Door county, may be a candidate for congress from the ninth district and will be at his trial and parole upon him

The Profits of Panhandling

By FREDERICK Y. HASKIN

Washington—if you have suffered the misfortune of losing a leg and are casting about for means of making a livelihood, perhaps the most lucrative thing you can turn to is panhandling. The stories of the incomes made by products of penicil chewing gum, useless gowags generally, are by no means fabulous.
 Cities differ widely in the ways of dealing with professional cripples. In some cities they must obtain licenses, or suffer arrest. In this way the police are given an opportunity to investigate each case and find out whether the cripple who applies for the privilege of peddling on the streets, with his infirmity or deformity as his main means of attracting dimes, nickels and quarters, is really unable to make a living in some other way.

Just at this time the city of Washington is a haven for these men. The police department has tried to keep them out of the downtown district, which of course is the ground they prefer. Unfortunately no law or police regulation directly prohibits these men from offering their wares for sale. Only a few days ago the police were directed to make some arrests and see if the courts would help to remedy the situation by imposing fines of sentences in the workhouse.

The arrests were made, and when the cases came before the police court, Judge Hardison decided that the men were not vagrants nor beggars. The fact that they had wares offered for sale, and that they were able to show incomes sufficient to lift them out of the class of those having no visible means of support, in the opinion of the court, protected these panhandlers from police interference. The court decided that pencils offered for sale, even though they brought in 10 or 25 times their value, constituted legiti-mate commerce.

A remedy for this situation in Washington may come from drawing up police regulations directly prohibiting street selling in the downtown section. It is believed that the professional cripples, rather than haunt the residence districts where the pedestrian traffic is negligible compared with the busy business part of the city, would take their handful of pencils and their woe-begone appearances to some more lenient section of the city.

In the recent arrests made in Washington as test cases, one of the men had in his pocket between $50 and $60, another had more than $65, and the third a considerable sum of money. One man arrested prior to this time, for the same offense had in his pocket nearly $85. In every case most of this money was in small change, indicating to the police that it was the income for not more than three days at the outside, and possibly of only one day and evening. Capt.
 Brown, police officer in charge of the downtown district, conversing with one of these men, said to him: "You probably make a lot more money than I do." The crippled panhandler, dressed in the rags of poverty, modestly admitted that this probably was true.

Here as elsewhere many of these men, since the war, have taken to wearing old, frayed uniforms of the United States army, usually, however, taking great care that insignia of all sorts is removed. Not even the branch of the supplied service is shown. Once in a while some unscrupulous, able-bodied tramp dons a uniform and goes out to take a living away from the world, trying straight-up begging on the plea that he is a former member of the A. E. F. who lost his job when he entered the army, has been able to find nothing else to do, and is reduced to his present lowly state because of these facts.

Some cities swarmed with these parasites for months after the armistice was signed. An investigation made by the war risk insurance bureau disclosed the fact that there were scarcely a single real soldier among this army of beggars.
 Many of them were arrested, others were effectively warned, and the practice has about been abolished.

The crippled peddler of pencils, wearing a uniform makes a silent appeal, as a rule, or if he "ballyhoos," his wares, does not mention any former fancied state as a soldier of the United States. He is too clever to get into that trouble.
 He counts upon the association of the old uniform and the missing leg as a means of passing without directly proclaiming that he left the missing member in France or Cuba. As it happens, usually he is right.
 The men of this kind, when questioned by the local police, will confess to having lost the leg because of a railroad accident or some other way not in any way associated with war. This is true of nearly every one of them.

Merchants object strongly to these men parking themselves on the sidewalk in front of their places of business, but often are helped by the same situation. The fact that they are peddling wares of fruit and celery, and the sidewalk dispensers of flowers. The police tried and failed to force a negro to give up selling flowers on a busy corner in Washington, at the very doors of one of the big department stores. The judge believed whom this man was hailed pointed out that he could not under existing law find him guilty of anything forbidden. This man still occupies the same public space, and does a rushing business.

He returned to the fake war veterans, once in a while one of them takes himself into trouble.
 This happened a few months ago when a man wearing a Marine corps uniform invaded a restaurant, selling bits of red, white and blue ribbon for 25 cents each. He approached everybody systematically, finally halting for several minutes beside a man in civilian clothes who seemed deeply sympathetic. The pretended veteran, to supply "local color" and make his tale convincing, wore a service of two years overseas, indicating a service of two years overseas, and enough campaign badges on the breast of his blouse to include every military expedition in which the United States has taken part since the War of 1812.

The sympathetic civilian seemed particularly interested in the service badges. The panhandler pointed out to him ribbons supposedly representing service in France, service on the Mexican border, the Vera Cruz expedition, and several others, running him over more than a score of years. He told he was one of the marines who landed at Vera Cruz from a certain battleship, the civilian gave him a quarter and hurriedly left the cafe. A few minutes later he came back with a policeman and a warrant.

Unfortunately for the fake hero, the man to whom he had been pouring out all of this misinformation—he had the campaign ribbons all wrong—was a Marine corps major and, as it happened, had been in charge of the marine contingent at Vera Cruz from the very ship selection of the troops as his own. Under police examination, the fraudulent soldier confessed that he had never been outside of the United States and had never been in any branch of the service.

to accept the nomination. The ninth has been well represented in the last six years by David Classon who is retiring. In this district there is but one avowed candidate. Elmer Hall, the present secretary of state. Mr. Hall will have powerful opposition because his affiliation with the nonpartisan league is not entirely to the taste of his region. Judge Graess would be a great addition to the house and a strong and influential member.

Blue Sky laws fall because there is nothing to stop the mail man from carrying the money of the avaricious investor to the office of the crook who is selling stocks that promise enormous dividends.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE GARDEN CATALOGUE
 There's never frost nor blight nor weeds, No neighbor's chickens, cats or dogs,
 To ruin all the tender seeds.
 That flourish in the catalogues;
 The humblest vine that's planted there Blossoms without the slightest care.

There are no withered stalks to see,
 No blight that threatens to thrive.
 No shrub that struggles desperately To catch the sun and stay alive; In catalogues the larkspur seems To match the gardener's fondest dreams.

The red geranium is strong,
 Its clump of blossoms full and round, No wind storm ever comes along.
 To sweep the cosmos to the ground, No youngster ever bats a ball Among the roses, straight and tall.

I turn the pages over and over And see the pansies dark as wine, And think, as I have thought before, These are surely things to mine In my poor garden, never yet Has bloomed such lovely mignonette.

Since pansies have the storms to face And men must battle day by day, They cannot wear the calm and grace Their printed catalogues display; Life is much sadder than it looks And scars are seldom shown in books.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. MOULTON.

WHAT EVERY FAMILY KNOWS.
 A sister seldom likes her brother's wife.
 A mother seldom thinks that a son's wife is worthy of him.

A mother seldom thinks that a daughter's husband is worthy of her.
 No man can please his mother, his wife, his sister and his wife's mother at the same time.

Marriage puts every one in his place.
 Women reign by love and not by hate.
 Jealousy seldom does not exist between brothers.

The word seldom means rarely and rarely means seldom.—Marcel Steinbrugg.

Who's Who Today

VISCOUNT TAKAHASHI.

Viscount Takahashi, the new Japanese primier, is familiar to the United States in his youth and remained here several years.

His father was a painter of landscapes. In his youth, in which it seems artists sometimes find themselves, he was unable to send to his son the money allowance which he needed and so the young man entered domestic service.
 Somewhere in an American family which unwittingly has the distinction of having employed the head of the nation to become afterward prime minister of his native land.

Young Takahashi also served in the army, being assigned to the 10th California ranch. Finally, having achieved competence in the English language—he was even then less than twenty—Takahashi returned to Japan and the struggle for his countrymen started to learn it. Within a year or two he had achieved favorable consideration in a mercantile house doing business with American and British firms, and later he entered the service of the Bank of Japan, at the time of his unusually early age. The Japanese house of lords is the goal of political bankers' ambitions in Japan and Takahashi achieved it rather earlier than most men. After this he became a member of the cabinet and the next step to the head of the finance ministry of his country was logical.

The ministry of Count Yamamoto came to an end shortly, but in 1918 Takahashi was chosen an finance minister in the cabinet of M. Hara.
 When, in 1920, the Bank of Japan stopped all advances and paralyzed the money market, Viscount Takahashi handled the situation with skill, although he has his critics. He saved general bankruptcy by enlightened financial methods and the granting of government assistance to private business firms which were able to prove their worth.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

Fruits of the Primary The tendency under the primary system is first to send weaker and weaker men to Congress and other representative bodies, and second, to make them extremely sensitive to group propaganda and fearful of group votes. Party leadership does not function. The responsibility for the choice of men best able to represent the general public is lost. The tendency is to give a good deal of themselves as representatives of the people, but in actuality, lost. In its place is put a competitive scramble for a plurality of a small primary vote often yielding the most grotesque results of popular indifference or carelessness, such as the favor for a name that comes first in the alphabetical list, or for a candidate whose name may resemble that of another or even for one whose candidacy is regarded as a joke. In short, there is a lack of interest in the choice of representatives a game of chance which tends always to come out in favor of the poorer results.—Springfield, Mo., Union.

LOOKING BACKWARD

Forty Years Ago.

March 12, 1882—Fire completely destroyed one section of the Janesville Cotton factory early this morning. The weaving room, which was the part burned, is detached from the main building of the company, and is made of wood.
 It is thought that it was set fire to by an incendiary. Machinery and raw materials in it were burned, causing a loss of $30,000 covered by $17,500 insurance.

Thirty Years Ago.

March 13, 1892—Sunday.
 Twenty Years Ago.

March 13, 1902—The strike situation in Boston is at its crisis today. The demands of the men are for a 40-hour week, a meeting of the Twilight club was held last night. The topic was city sewerage and a petition was signed by the members, asking that the council prohibit any system which would empty sewerage above the Monterey dam.

Ten Years Ago.

March 13, 1912—President Taft stated yesterday to the foreign relations committee that the neutrality laws of the country are not definite enough and that the new ones were made in the strained situation with Mexico was liable to result in a catastrophe. The big auto show will open tomorrow.

God's Pleasant Surprises.

Eye I had not seen, nor heard, neither have I entered, nor the heart of the Lord, and I have seen which God hath prepared for them that love him.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author.

THE IMPAIRED HEART

Here is a subject I dislike to mention, because some readers will only see the heading, scan the lines below and gain a false impression. Yet heart disease is second only to tuberculosis in the mortality rate in the portion of the population of the United States living in the registration area, which includes about four-fifths of the entire population. A curious fact is that the majority of persons who die of heart disease are those who have weak hearts or "heart trouble" have no heart disease or impairment at all. On the other hand, perhaps the great majority of persons who really have impaired hearts do not realize it, though they do, unless they are mentally deficient, realize that their heart is not so good as it was. The popular notion is that heart disease is like a stroke of lightning from a clear sky, something that strikes down the victim suddenly, without warning and when he is in the same of good health. This notion has its foundation in truth. It is just this truth, unfortunately, that often the victim of heart disease prefers to misinterpret his failing health, his diminishing endurance, his weakening physical power, his wasting mental capacity, in some such soothing term as "overwork," "nervous strain," "run down condition," and it is in the months or years the victim drifts into a false assumption that the heart disease progresses, and he is advanced, stage and the stage becomes set for one of those sudden seizures which strike the victim's friends.

Here stands the modern physician, waiting beside a very broad and comfortable bed into which he invites everybody, everybody ever, 30, to climb once a year while he makes the annual physical examination to detect minor impairments, the incipient or early signs of disease, so that he may give advice of a preventive or conservative nature. But the masses of people are not so wise as to occupy this broad bed.

Over here stands the old fashioned doctor, the family practitioner, beside an ordinary bed, a sickbed, only moderately comfortable, none so inviting. Most people, nevertheless, prefer to wait until they are compelled to get into bed, and of course they have to choose the sick bed for their beds. Many of them never get out of it. This bed receives almost all the cases of heart disease. Still further beyond, in the dark corner, stands a tall, sombre viandant fellow wearing a tall, narrow and a long tail. He has a narrow and uncon-fortable bed indeed, ornately equipped with six silver handles and a plate glass quilt. Surprising how eager some people seem to be to try out this long narrow bed.

 Consciousness of regular or irregular beating of the heart or pain felt somewhere about the left side of the chest is generally not a complaint of one with actually impaired heart. An impaired heart rather induces impaired general capacity.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Dandruff.
 I find the formula which you suggest for the treatment of dandruff, 50 grains of precipitated sulphur, 20 grains of salicylic acid and one ounce of vasoline, is very good for that condition, but I wonder whether the prolonged use of the sulphur will fade or destroy the hair. (M. E. L.)

Answer.—I did not suggest rose water, but oilment of rose water (cold cream) as the solvent for the sulphur and salicylic acid. However, there is no objection to the formula you give if you find it satisfactory. Sulphur will not fade or destroy hair.

Chemist Sets Us Right.
 I note your recommendation for chopped hands. Why all this fuss in making up such a collection when I find in two fact official in the United States and also the British pharmacopoeia, obtainable in tubes, will give you good in five minutes. (W. C. B. Chemist.)

Answer.—Janolin is an excellent protective for the hands of persons exposed to acids or alkalis, such as printers, photographers, persons handling cleaning powders or soaps.

Low Sugar Tolerance.
 Kindly tell me whether a person can have "low sugar tolerance" without having diabetes. (H. G. D.)

Answer.—You bring up an important question, bearing on the arbitrary border-line between health and disease and between normal and abnormal. A normal metabolism of such elements may be a matter of opinion. Doctors differ in what they call "normal sugar tolerance." So there is no doubt that an individual may have it at different times and under different circumstances, yet still be healthy and have no diabetes.

Q. What code is used for wireless. Is it the same as telegraph code? F. E. W.

A. The wireless code is known as Continental code and used for wireless work alone, and is operated by means of a buzzer, whereas the telegraph code is known as the Morse and is used extensively for land work. It is operated by means of eight letters these codes are practically the same.

Q. Which is more harmful, a glass of beer or a cup of coffee? W. K.

A. The bureau of chemistry says it is difficult to compare the harmfulness of one beverage with another because of the widely different effects of the two on different people. It says that some people seem to have an idiosyncrasy which will result in making one substance more harmful to them than another.

Q. What is General Pershing's salary? H. G.

A. General Sherman has the same basic salary that General Grant received—$12,000. While General Pershing was in France his allowances amounted to $4,000 or more. At present his allowance is about $4,000.

Q. When did Joseph Jefferson first play Rip Van Winkle? D. H.

Q. What part of milk is whey? M. E.

A. Whey is the watery part of milk from which curd is made.

Supreme Court Will Meet on Tuesday With 6

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison—The Wisconsin Supreme court will meet Tuesday, without a member to fill the justiceship left vacant by the death Feb. 12 of Chief Justice Rostert. C. Schock, it is not believed that Governor Blaine will name a successor by that time.
 The governor is still considering the question of a successor to Chief Justice Rostert. The names of Charles Crownhart, revisor of statutes; Judge E. Ray Stevens, of the Dane county circuit court; and M. E. Olmstead, executive counsel continue to be suggested as the most likely appointees of the governor.

K. of C. Five Rams Through R. F. Bs. Sunday, 17 to 9

R. F. B.'S SET BACK BY SMASHING PLAY OF HEMMING CREW

In a smashing game that proved one of the best of the season, the local Knights of Columbus basketball quintet surprised a good sized crowd at the Coliseum rink, South River street, Sunday afternoon by knocking off the R. F. B. five to the tune of 17 to 9. Because of the intense rivalry between the squads the battle was rough and furious.

For the whole of the first half, the Jay Sees kept the fast R. F. B. bunch from dropping the ball through the basket. The best of the younger boys could do in the starting period against the Casey was to land one free throw. Meantime, Hemming's crew was keeping the sphere through the meshes for nine points.

First of Series

The game was the first of a series between the city's. There already talk that out of these clashes will come plans for putting Janesville back on the map with a snappy home talent, and a season. Early fans are anxious to see the Bower city with a flashy squad in the field but they are not desirous of rooting for some out of town chaps who come here merely for the coin he can pull down.

Sunday, the R. F. B. got the setback of their life. They were confident of eliminating the K. C. team. Against seven men who were not working harmoniously, the Knights pitted five hard working players. In the second half both teams scored the same number of points, 8-8, the whistle stopping a spurt of the R. F. B. crew.

Another game will be played perhaps next Sunday. This week-end, the R. F. B. appear in the district amateur tournament at Madison.

Three Stitches Are Taken in McCluskey's Hurt

Three stitches had to be taken in the flesh above "Denny" McCluskey's eye as a result of his fall in the first minute of play in the first game of the series at the Capital city Friday night. A slight scar may remain as a result.

It is hoped that the injury to the forward from the Blues in the Whitewater sectional tournament, McCluskey was kept out of the first half of the battle but when he went back in the second period, he played what Coach Reyer stated was a "wonderful game." With a bandage over his head, McCluskey played the corner, pivoting shot, three baskets, enabling the locals to pull up on Madison. Had he not been hurt so early in the game, it is believed the score for the Bower city would have run higher. He was the only one of the Blues who was able to locate the basket consistently.

Janesville high practices at the Coliseum rink Monday and Tuesday, afternoon in preparation for the tourney. Wednesday will close their workouts and they leave for Whitewater Thursday morning.

McCluskey was current Monday that Lake Mills had withdrawn. No confirmation has been received.

FIVE PRESBYTERIAN BOYS GIVEN BANNERS AT VESPER SERVICE

Presentation of banners to boys of the Live, Wide, and True of the church who had attained special honors for the past ten weeks' period, was a feature of the vesper services at the Presbyterian church, Sunday evening. They were Kenneth McFarlane, who won first place, with a score of 425 points of a possible 470; Morris DeShong, 420; Gordon Lamb, 346; and Kenneth MacMillan and Allen Levey, 210 each. B. H. Koyce, chairman of the men's committee, presented the banners and complimented the boys.

A mission dialogue "Waiting for the Doctor" was given by the following girls: Josephine Athon, Alice Athon, Marjorie Barie, Elizabeth Robbins, Irene Bucholz, Jessie McFarland, Lila Lamb and Phyllis Gardner. The South Side Middle school played a flute solo, with Miss Louise Bennett as accompanist.

A talk given by Rev. J. A. Melrose on the relationship of church and the world, helped to emphasize the importance of young people in church life. He especially urged the teaching of the fundamental principles of honesty, reliability and steadfastness in the home, that there might be a strong foundation for character building.

Community singing led by Miss Mavis Hansen and choir music were also featured. Charles Hansen, A. E. Bergman and Mrs. Joseph Blow were in charge of arrangements.
